CONFIDENTIAL

The DDO Special Panel declined 4 suggestion cases at yesterday's meeting. The Panel recommended Special Achievement awards of $300 and $1,000 for two cases. The Panel declined one Exceptional Accomplishment nomination as being too premature at this time for being of value to DDO components.

All Suggestion and Achievement Program data to date has been input to the computer. We have received listings and rosters to verify the input. The program is now written so that we can receive the normal FY-end reports, outstanding case listings, etc.

c. [redacted] displayed considerable initiative and creativity in the organization and writing of the Brief. His persistence in doing as good a job as possible is exemplified by the considerable overtime which he devoted to the effort on a voluntary basis and without compensation. We estimate that during the period the Brief was being prepared, mid-November 1975 to mid-May 1976, [redacted] devoted at least 200 hours of his own time. Further, [redacted] demonstrated exceptional ability in integrating into the final document the views of more senior working group members in a manner satisfactory to the management of the member agencies -- FTD/AF and NSA -- as well as the views of the Scientific and Technical Intelligence Committee membership and [redacted].

4. Evaluations

a. We believe the Brief will be of much value and have extensive application throughout the Intelligence Community. [redacted] has advised us that the preparation of the Brief was an excellent accomplishment and that it will have much value and application throughout the Intelligence Community, especially in those DDO components concerned with Soviet targets. The Chairman, STIC in speaking very highly of [redacted] work noted that the manner in which the Brief is organized, together with its completeness, should save considerable time, effort, and indirectly funds, on the part of the users. OTS has been advised of the Brief's contents, and we expect that ORD and OEL will be using parts of the information contained in the Brief in their research and development of future technical collection systems.

25X1A

b. As you know, our initial nomination for [redacted] accomplishments was studied by the DDO Special Panel for value to covert collection. The Panel reached an interim conclusion on 22 June 1976 to the effect that the Brief had not yet been fully put to use in DDO components and, therefore, it was too soon to assess its value to the DDO.

c. With minor updating periodically the publication in its present form will be useful for many years. In view of the extent of use expected primarily by collect-and consistent with the Intangible Benefits Guide, we estimate the value of the Brief at this time to be EXCEPTIONAL and the extent of application BROAD.

[redacted]

5. Line of Duty

25X1A [redacted] has been an analyst in OSI and the Agency for about two years. He entered on duty in July 1974 as a GS-9 and was promoted to a GS-10 in October 1975. The initiative, creativity, analytical and technical ability, persistence, and extent of knowledge on Soviet activities demonstrated by [redacted] in the preparation of the Brief was at a level expected of a GS-13/14. An analyst at the GS-10 level involved in a project of this magnitude and complexity would normally be called upon to prepare or assist in the preparation only of a section of the Brief. [redacted] accomplishment clearly exceeds his job requirements and went well beyond what one would expect of an individual at his grade level. Further, all participants on the working group are of considerably higher grade levels than [redacted] assistant, who provided some guidance and assistance to [redacted] believes that the achievement is worthy of recognition at this time.

25X1A

6. Award Recommendation

a. During the past two months, we have carefully considered various forms of reward for [redacted] brilliant work including a promotion, Quality Step Increase or an Honor and Merit Award. We have concluded that recognition through an Agency financial award would be most fitting at this stage of his career. It would also serve, in our opinion, to stimulate other OSI analysts to a higher level of performance.

b. Based upon [redacted] accomplishments to date we recommend the Agency's Special Achievement Award and an honorarium of at least $1500. At such time as we note the realization of additional value from Intelligence Community-wide use of the Brief, we will submit a recommendation for added recognition.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Chairman, Suggestion and Achievement Awards Committee

FROM : Clifford D. May, Jr.
Director of Data Processing

SUBJECT : Recommendation for Special Achievement Award

25X1A 1. [REDACTED] Data Conversion Machine
Operator-Supervisor, GS-07, Step 10, Office of Data Processing is hereby nominated for the CIA Special Achievement Award.

25X1A 2. [REDACTED] was assigned to the Rosslyn Keypunch Unit in 1966 as the unit's supervisor. She is responsible for the supervision of seven keypunch operators and "hands on" processing of data for the General Account (GAS) and Payroll systems for the Office of Finance.

25X1A 3. [REDACTED] received an overall rating of "Outstanding" for her performance during the three most recent rating periods. During all of this time she has been physically separated from the mainstream of data processing at Headquarters. This isolation required her to assume the responsibilities of coordinating with customers on data input schedules, advising customers on the proper use of data entry equipment, and designing documents and input formats to achieve the highest degree of efficiency.

25X1A 4. With the purchase of the new IV PHASE Key-to-Disk Entry System in June 1975 and the inauguration of the new General Accounting APOD (All-Purpose Obligation Documents)
System in July 1975, [REDACTED] provided the leadership to "get things moving." She immediately faced the challenges of the new system and inspired others in her section to follow her lead. Among the severe handicaps that she labored under were the problems associated with successfully operating parallel keypunch systems for processing financial obligations and effectively doing the job with an inadequate number of operators.

25X1A 5. In April 1976, [REDACTED] again demonstrated her versatility by keying twenty days of test data for the Pretest Plan for Stage II of the General Account System on a crash basis. To complete this task, she learned new keying instructions and new input source documents along with training her operators in these new procedures. During this period [redacted] maintained all other work schedules without requiring additional time to complete her tasks.

6. We estimate that the recommended employee's performance attained a potential cost avoidance for ODP of $5000 annually. Replacing her would probably require an additional half-time employee at the GS-05 level in addition to a person to assume her supervisory responsibilities. On the Intangible Benefits Guide, we rate the value of her achievements and sustained superior performance as EXCEPTIONAL-EXTENDED. We would prefer to reward [redacted] in a longer lasting manner by promoting her or awarding her a Quality-Step Increase. However, the up-grading of the position to GS-08 was disapproved in early 1976. She reached the 10th step of her grade in June 1974.

7. In recognition of her exceptional service to ODP and to other components of the Agency as our customers, we recommend that [redacted] be awarded the CIA Special Achievement Award with an honorarium of $1,000.
